

The Vigorous Interplay of Ideas

Digitizing Hidden Collections: Amplifying Unheard Voices

Funds digitization and dissemination of rare and unique content documenting the experiences and creativity of people, communities, and populations underrepresented in digital collections.

HBCU Library Alliance Partnership

Builds awareness of African American contributions to history and culture by improving access to the unparalleled collections held by Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs).

DLF Working Groups

Supports practitioners who collaborate year-round to solve problems in digital library subfields, from pedagogy and digital accessibility to project management and technology strategy.

Digital Library of the Middle East

Federates and makes accessible data about collections documenting the cultural legacy of the Middle East and North Africa, built on a platform developed by an engineering team from CLIR and Stanford Libraries.

Hidden Collections Africa will benefit from decades of experience built within CLIR's established programs and partnerships

Recordings at Risk

Funds digitization of time-based media while also helping institutions set priorities, develop strategies, and implement best practices for preservation reformatting.

Leading Change Institute

Empowers emerging leaders in higher education to work collaboratively to address critical issues. A new curriculum will focus on essential aspects of leadership that transcend local and national interests within an atmosphere of cultural inclusion and mutual respect.

Authenticity Project

Offers mentorship, learning opportunities, and leadership development to library staff based at Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs)

CLIR Postdoctoral Fellowships

Brings new scholars into libraries and other memory organizations to nurture community partnerships, strengthen services, promote the effective use of collections and technologies, and ethically curate and preserve the products of current research.
